WELCOME TO THE FESTIVAL OF THE ARTS

Welcome—we're so glad you're here. Today, from 11:00 AM to 6:00 PM, our campus comes alive with two outdoor stages of music and dance, live art demos, hands-on kids' activities, a vibrant vendor marketplace, and great food and drinks to enjoy throughout the day.

Our goal is simple: open the doors wide and let the arts do what they do best—connect us. Thanks to our partners and the extraordinary artists participating, this year's festival promises a full day of discovery, delight, and community pride. I'm thrilled to see our campus come alive with artists, families, and neighbors celebrating together. This festival is a love letter to Phoenix—where youth ensembles share the stage with seasoned performers, where discovery is around every corner, and where access to the arts remains accessible for all.

Your presence matters. By showing up, visiting booths, and cheering on performances, you're supporting the artists and organizations who fuel the creative heartbeat of our Valley. And the celebration doesn't end today—a majority of the artists you see here are part of our 25–26 Community Showcase programs. You can catch these same performers at this season's First Friday events, Performance Pop-Ups, Lunch Time Theater, and other special programs right here at the Herberger Theater Center.

Thank you for being part of this joyful day and for championing the arts in Phoenix. Enjoy every moment.

*With gratitude,

Light in the Window is a tender one-act play that follows a Filipino American son and his immigrant mother across five Christmas seasons, connected by the Filipino tradition of parol-making—crafting bright star-shaped lanterns that symbolize hope and memory. Through humor, love, and quiet reflection, the two bridge generational and cultural divides as the son learns not only his family’s history, but also the resilience carried within their shared rituals. As time passes and roles shift, the act of making the parol becomes a legacy of light—a way for the son to honor his mother’s spirit and keep her stories shining in the window for generations to come.
